RESOURCE GUIDE

About GRIP

The Gwinnett Re-entry Intervention Program works to provide housing and services to help individuals exiting jail transition back into society after being incarcerated.

Nationally, 67 percent of individuals who are released from jail or prison return within three years. Many individuals experience mental health issues, and roughly 10 percent face homelessness. With these barriers and many more, the likelihood of someone becoming incarcerated again increases dramatically.

Since 2012, GRIP has helped permanently house more than 270 people exiting jail. The recidivism rate has decreased for GRIP participants in Gwinnett by more than 60 percent, dropping from 25.5 percent to 8.2 percent. The Gwinnett County Jail population has reduced, taxpayer dollars have been saved, and the community is a safer place for all.
